

Overview

This Football and Sectarianism session co-delivered by SCDC and LASP was delivered as a presentation, with additional group work activities. There was also a quiz element in this session that worked really well, with the participants being asked to guess the names of famous players and teams.

Importantly, rather than simply discuss football and sectarianism within the narrow focus of the Celtic and Rangers old firm rivalry; football in Edinburgh was explored alongside the heritage of both Hibs and Hearts football clubs.

For more information on how this session was delivered please see section 1.9).
